Fund Manager's Comment (Norrton Active)

March was a very volatile month, the SBX index was trading down and up more than 4% several times during the month to end down 1% for the whole month.

Risk premium went up due fear of an escalation of trade war policies, such as tariffs, and the effect that might have on global growth, which is especially important in this stage of the business cycle. The pullback in technology stocks in US also put pressure on the stock market.

In Sweden we saw outflows from small cap funds that put pressure on many companies in that segment.

In March Norron Active was down 2%, SBX index was down 1% and OBX index in Norway was down 2%. The positive contributors in March were IAR systems, Camurus, Atlas Copco, Hansa Medical and Skanska whilst the negative contributors were Kindred, Academedia, Ocean Yield Husqvarna and Swedbank.
